KRE ALAKLYN 3000

It's the latest discovery in the acquisition of volume and strength through a totally new creatine system. The patented Kre-Alkalyn® molecule is formulated to generate a revolutionary new creatine that prevents its conversion to creatinine when it reaches the muscle. Kre-Alkalyn® improves all parameters of strength, recovery and efficiency with a dosage approximately 10 times lower than traditional creatine. Its release system delivers more creatine to muscle cells and decreases lactic acid. It does not require a loading phase or cycles, and the training sessions will be more intense and explosive.

LCM

L-citrulline malate is the combination of the non-essential amino acid citrulline with malic acid, which implies an increase in strength compared to taking citrulline alone. It is one of the main precursors of adenosine triphosphate, a type of mitochondrial energy that is perfect during intense training, so that we not only have a high energy effect, but also considerably reduce fatigue. It is also a precursor to nitric oxide, promoting capillary vessels relaxation and improving congection and muscle hardness.
